Prom night recap

We hope you all enjoyed our prom night and now we want to do a little recap. The ball started with the headmistress' speech in which she welcomed us to the magical Lucerna Hall. Followed by the senior dance, all classes worked hard for the performance and the results were evident. During the main ceremony we were given sashes and flowers. Another tradition at Czech proms is the "golden rain", where 4th graders walk in a circle with large sheets and collect cash from the guests.

The students' dance performance was another showcase of the talent we have at the school, Latin American and contemporary dance were performed. The most popular moment of the night is always the students' midnight surprise. Let us know which one was your favorite in the poll below.

The after party was also a big success, we danced through the night, had fun, and talked with our friends. More people than we expected came, and we thank you all for coming not only to the afterparty but also to the prom. We all had such a good time and hope you did too.

The comeback of Lady Gaga

First and foremost, we all know who Lady Gaga is.

She is still mostly known for her extravagant outfits and performances and speaking out about variety of controversial (to conservatives and closeminded people) topics and especially for speaking out about queer rights. So her sudden change of character and transformation from Lady Gaga to just Stefani Joanne Angelina Germanotta was rather sad. Not to mention, she decided to dedicate her time to acting and jazz instead of pop and we lost the our extravagant pop queen until...

she released a song called Abracadabra in early February. It was so similar to Bad Romance and Born This Way and the music was so catchy. It became some sort of a trend for queer people to record their reaction to the song and being amazed and in awe.

With that she announced a release of her new album. The album is called Mayhem and based solely off of the title, we can clearly tell that it is going to be a „ride“. March 7 is set to be the release date for the album and it will include the songs like Abracadabra, Disease and Die With a Smile that she won a Grammy for.

Lady Gaga herself said that we should thank her husband Michael Polansky for encouraging her to make a new pop record.

All that is left for us fans is to speculate and hope that the Lady Gaga that we once knew is trully coming back and the pop industry will be as fun as it was (and finally move on from Dua Lipa).

P.S. the album is out now so you can disregard this text...

FAREWELL

Dear readers

We would like to inform you that this is the last issue created by our group 4. A/1. For the past three years, we have tried our best to bring you fun and entertaining content.

The best part about making this magazine was that we could do something creative instead of completing that mundane, lackluster, tedious and uninspiring Cambridge book. We greatly appreciate your almost non-existent support (shoutout to the guy who urinated on the magazine and left it on the toilet). We hope you all will continue reading the magazine even though we will no longer be a part of it.

Yours faithfully

The Ressnews team 4.A/1

FOR THE LAST TIME,
WITH LOVE
