MOVIES THAT WILL COME OUT IN JUNE

Written by Sabi P.

SCARY MOVIE 6

The highly anticipated film is, as the title hints, the sixth parody film in the Scary movie film series, following Scary movie 5. The series mainly mocks popular horror films and pop culture; for instance, Scary movie takes inspiration from the slasher franchise Scream and features its altered iconic mask. This film will be released on July 4th.

TOY STORY 5

The children's movie we all know is also getting a new segment, this time the fifth. For the first time one of the toys is an electronic, more specifically a frog-like tablet called Lilypad, which is unsurprisingly the main antagonist. You can see this movie in theatres on July 18th.

DISCLOSURE DAY

A sci-fi movie directed by one of the greatest filmmakers, Steven Spielberg, who directed world-wide famous movies such as Jaws, E.T., Jurassic Park and Schindler's list. Disclosure day is about alien contact...

but instead of focusing on the aliens themselves, the film shows the humanity's response. It will be released on July 11th.

SUPERGIRL

Supergirl, who already appeared in Superman, which was released nearly a year earlier, will now have her own, apparently more personal and violent movie. The film takes inspiration from the Supergirl: Woman of Tomorrow comic storyline and is the fourth project in Chapter one: Gods and Monsters. You can watch it in cinemas on July 25.

SUGGESTIONS FOR SUMMER ACTIVITIES

Written by Laura P. & Míša H.

Summer is the best time of the year to relax, have fun, and create unforgettable memories. There are many activities you can do with your friends or family.

For example, you can visit Prague Zoo, where you can see animals like elephants, lions, and monkeys. It can be both fun and educational. An interesting fact is that on April 14, 2026, a female giraffe of a rare species was born there. The baby giraffe is already outside.

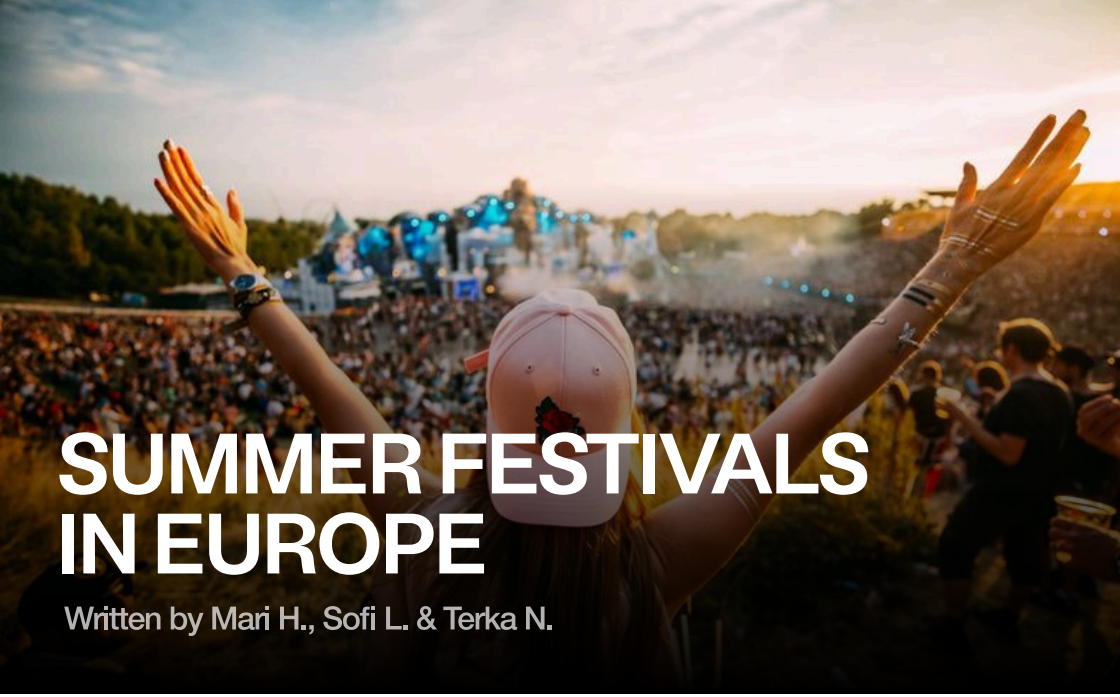

You can also take a walk around a city, for example Prague, and see historical landmarks such as Prague Astronomical Clock and Charles Bridge. In Prague, you can try popular restaurants like Marina Ristorante, Café Louvre, Café Imperial, or Café Café. You can also have a picnic with your friends on Petřín Hill.

In the evening, if you feel like dancing, you can visit famous Prague clubs. The biggest club in Prague, located near Charles Bridge, is Karlovy Lázně. Other popular options include OX Club on Náměstí Míru and Lucerna Music Bar on Václavské náměstí.

Another great place to visit is Máchovo jezero, where you can swim or rent a pedal boat, which is a lot of fun. A pedal boat costs only 150 Kč for 2–4 people per hour. You can also rent a boat on the Vltava River. It is a bit more expensive, but still affordable, costing around 200 Kč per hour for four people.

From our experience, one of the most fun and memorable things you can do with friends is going to a cottage for a few days. In the Czech Republic, many people own cottages, which makes this type of trip very convenient. You do not have to pay for accommodation; you only need to buy food and drinks. Also, high school students often already have a driving licence, so transportation is not a problem. The best thing is that you can create your own program. For example, you can organize a game that lasts for the entire trip, such as team competitions. You and your friends can divide into groups and compete by playing smaller games throughout your stay. Not only is it fun, but it is also beneficial because it helps develop communication, concentration, and teamwork.

WORLD CUP 2026

Written by Špilos, Seňa, Pepek & Ricco.

ABOUT WORLD CUP

The FIFA World Cup is the biggest football tournament in the world. Every football fan looks forward to the World Cup, which is played once every four years. The last winner of the World Cup was Argentina, but that does not mean Argentina will win again this time.

This World Cup will also likely be the last for some of the most famous players of our generation, such as Neymar, Messi, Ronaldo, Lewandowski, and many others.

It will be the first time the World Cup is hosted by three countries: the United States, Canada, and Mexico. The tournament will take place from June 11 to July 19, 2026. It will feature 48 teams, 104 matches, and 16 stadiums across North America, so every match will be unique.

Possible winners of the World Cup include Spain, France, Brazil, and England. However, teams like Portugal, Germany, the Netherlands, and Argentina could also surprise everyone.

No one knows who will win the final, so we can only speculate.

It will be very interesting to see the teams compete for first place.

OUR NATIONAL TEAM

Our national football team is going to the World Cup after a long twenty years. The last participation in the World Cup was in 2006 in Germany, when players like Pavel Nedvěd and Tomáš Rosický were in the team. Many of us were not even born back then.

But today we also have some elite footballers, such as Patrik Schick, Tomáš Souček, Vladimír Coufal, Lukáš Provod, Ladislav Krejčí, and others.

Many of them are playing in foreign leagues. For example, L. Krejčí and T. Souček play in the Premier League, while V. Coufal and P. Schick play in the Bundesliga. So individually we have some solid players, but unfortunately, I think that as a team we do not perform very well.

WHERE TO WATCH

Matches will be broadcast worldwide. In the U.S., you can watch them on FOX Sports and Telemundo. In Europe, channels such as BBC and ITV will air games. In the Czech Republic, coverage is expected on Česká televize.

Many matches will also be available via streaming services like YouTube TV, Hulu + Live TV, Fubo, and DirecTV Stream. Some of these services require a subscription, while traditional television broadcasts are often free.

WHERE AND HOW TO BET

Betting on football involves predicting the outcome of a match or tournament and placing a wager on that prediction. Bookmakers set “odds” (or “rates”) that reflect the probability of an event happening, which determines how much you can win.

Now, Spain is considered the favorite to win, so the odds on them are lower compared to other teams.

You can place bets through licensed bookmakers such as Bet365, William Hill, Unibet, or Czech platforms like Tipsport and Fortuna.

Always check local laws and bet responsibly. Avoid using suspicious or unlicensed services.

TEAMS QUALIFIED FOR THE WORLD CUP:

There are 48 teams split into 12 groups. So, each group has 4 opponents. The teams were chosen by points in nationtionals matches.

Best teams there are: Brazil, Germany, Spain, France and England. In the history the Italy was one of the best teams, but they did not qualify 3 times in the row.

Sneaky teams: That teams are not famous, but they are every times great and are playing very beautiful football. I think Croatia is the best example of sneaky teams. These World Cup will have total 104 matches.

WHO IS DEFENDING THE CHAMPION?

Argentina. They won their third World Cup title at Qatar 2022.

NEW TYPE OF GAMBLING ON THE RISE

Written by Matěj D.

Gambling has been a major issue for the past two centuries, if not longer. However, due to various developments around the world, its nature has changed. What began as basic sports betting has evolved into people rushing to place bets on things like what Elon Musk will tweet in December. In the United States, betting is highly regulated and even outlawed in some states. As a result, companies have found ways to bypass these laws by creating less obvious alternatives. One such company, Polymarket, uses contracts in which users essentially buy shares. These contracts are structured so that users receive a payout if a specific outcome occurs. This approach allows them to bypass traditional gambling regulations. Instead of conventional betting, users are technically entering into contracts, while still speculating on virtually anything.

This new form of gambling is unpredictable and potentially dangerous. Recent analyses have shown that 84 % of users operate at a loss. Only a small percentage manage to make money, and of those, just 1.3 % have earned more than $1,000. Despite its new form, the outcome remains familiar the house still wins.

MAJÁLES

Written by Kay Jay, Nasťa & Šabata.

Majáles is a Czech music festival held in several cities, including Praha, Ostrava, Brno, Plzeň, and Hradec Králové. It is one of the most popular music festivals in the Czech Republic and is especially popular among young people, as it mainly features contemporary pop and rap artists.

Many people attend Majáles to enjoy live music, spend time with friends, and experience the lively atmosphere. Before the festival begins, there is an event called the Majáles parade (Majálesový průvod), which usually takes place in April or May. It is a student parade that is part of the traditional Czech spring celebration known as Majáles. The parade is organized by university students and often includes creative costumes, masks, and performances.

Historically, Majáles dates back to the 19th century and has been associated with student freedom and expression. It even attracted important Czech figures such as Karel Hynek Mácha.

The festival takes place between late April and May, with each city having its own date. The line-up includes popular Czech and Slovak artists, mainly from the pop, rap, and hip-hop scene. For example...

Sara Rikas, 58G, Dorian and Lboy, G1nter, Stein27, Ben Cristovao, Calin, Buka, PTK, or Ca$hanova Bulhar.

Majáles in Prague happened on May 1st, and the gates opened at 11 a.m. The first artist on the main stage was Buka. Since there were three stages, multiple artists could perform at the same time, so everyone could enjoy their favorite performers.

Since it took place in the day of love in the Czech Republic, there was also a cherry tree for couples to kiss under. There were even three engagements during the event.

My experience was really good overall. The only issue was the toilets — they were located all the way at the end of the venue, and there was only one near the main stage. And of course, the dust… that was horrible. However, I still really enjoyed the festival.

F1 AFTER TWO CANCELLED RACES AND NEW REGULATIONS

Written by Ondřej K.

Formula 1 has recently faced the cancellation of two races due to the ongoing conflict involving Iran, the United States, and other countries.

The cancelled events were the Bahrain and Saudi Arabian Grands Prix. FIA officials stated that the races should be cancelled to ensure the safety of the drivers, team members, and everyone involved in the events.

For fans, this is a huge disappointment. The new regulations for the 2026 season are already unpopular, and instead of focusing on improving the racing experience, the FIA must now focus on safety and maintaining a smooth-running season. In some countries, this has even caused a significant drop in viewership. For example, in Spain, the home country of two Formula 1 drivers, television broadcasters have reported almost 50% fewer viewers than last season.

Many fans are also turning to other motorsport series. For example, enduro racing has gained popularity among Formula 1 fans thanks to the participation of two drivers, Max Verstappen and Lance Stroll. Formula E is also becoming increasingly popular because of its...

connection to electric-powered cars.

The cancellation of these two races has not helped the situation. The FIA is trying to find the best compromise between an exciting viewing experience and the introduction of a new generation of engines for the modern era of Formula 1.

For example, the new engines now use a 50/50 combination of internal combustion and electric power. However, this has made overtaking seem a little too easy because of the “overtake mode,” in which battery power helps drivers pass the car in front.

Recently, the Miami Grand Prix took place, and the regulation changes were received positively by fans. The winner of the race was Kimi Antonelli, who has been breaking many records since the start of the season. The break between the Japanese Grand Prix and Miami was quite long, so Formula 1 fans are excited to see the sport return.

We are looking forward to the next race and to Formula 1’s comeback, and we wish the best to young driver Andrea Kimi Antonelli.

MET GALA 2026

Written by Nela F., Kája H. & Kája K..

The Met Gala is an annual fashion charity event held at the Metropolitan Museum of Art to benefit the Costume Institute. Celebrities are dressed according to the designed theme. This event takes place at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City. The date of this year's Met Gala was 4th of May. In 2025, museum officials reported the biggest growth in the event's 77-year history, raising around 31 million dollars.

DRESS CODE

This year's broad dress code was "Fashion is Art".

THEME

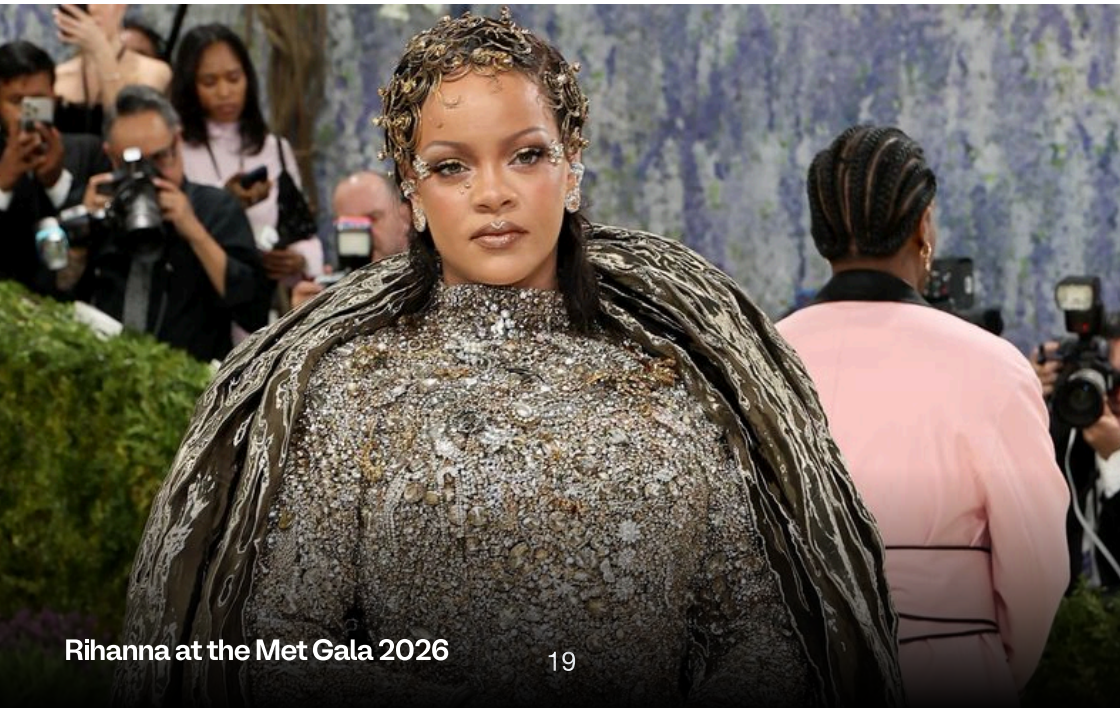

The theme for the 2026 Met Gala and concurrent spring 2026 museum exhibition was Costume Art. Focusing primarily on Western art from prehistory to the present, Costume Art was organized into a series of thematic body types that reflect their ubiquity and endurance through time and space," the Met stated in a Nov. 17 press release about the exhibition.

BEST RATED OUTFITS

The 2026 Met Gala delivered some of the most artistic red-carpet fashion in years. One of the standout looks was worn by Rihanna, who arrived in a dramatic Maison Margiela gown covered in crystal embroidery and metallic details. Fashion critics praised the outfit for perfectly matching the theme and turning the red carpet into a true performance piece.

Another unforgettable appearance came from Beyoncé, whose sparkling skeleton-inspired gown with a huge, feathered train became one of the night's most photographed outfits. The design blended glamour, theatrical art, and couture craftsmanship in a way that captured the spirit of the event.

Also, Bad Bunny delivered one of the most talked-about moments at the 2026 Met Gala by appearing as an elderly version of himself. Instead of relying on flashy couture alone, he used hyper-realistic prosthetics, gray hair, wrinkles, and a cane to explore the idea of aging as performance art. The transformation immediately became one of the night's defining fashion statements.
